

Higher Learning Commission
Follow Up Committee

Meeting Date: August 15, 2007

Members in Attendance: Ernestine Darnell, Stacy Ehmen, Gail Morrison, Ann Muench, Cindy Parr-Barrett, Craig Potter, Nancy Boesdorfer

In reference to one of our bullets on the detailed table of contents, Nancy brought up the topic of a community survey, and whether or not we needed to do one. Since it was not a “recommendation (or requirement)” from the 2004 Evaluation Team, the committee brainstormed ways that we might gather information without actually doing a survey. Gail mentioned putting some kind of a question on our website that students could respond to if they could not find a particular class they were interested in taking.

Due to everyone’s increased responsibilities on campus, Stacy will ask Jane Brown whether she might have a student that could work on this project for a class assignment. The project could be two-fold, where we could gather information from current students (i.e., classes that they would like to take but we do not have, online class suggestions, other suggestions, etc.), and also from alumni (i.e., where are you now, etc.). This is information we need to gather, and it might be advantageous to gather it while the student is already on-line.

September 14 was again discussed as the due date for the sub-teams to have their 1st rough draft completed on their individual challenge questions.

Upcoming Meeting Date: Friday, September 7, 2:30 p.m.

Meeting Adjourned: 12:10 p.m.
